Editorial Review

Review

Journal of Clinical Psychiatry, Volume 1, Issue 68 -- "This Q&A book is an excellent additional resource for the psychiatry boards. Two attributes set this book apart: the questions are grouped by topic, and there's a comprehensive index. The grouping by topic makes it easier to find your strengths and weaknesses, and the index helps you find questions you may want to check again. This offering has a good mix of questions relevant to the boards."

European Journal of Neurology, Volume 12, Issue 11 -- "This book, written by four physicians and psychologists from Philadelphia and Cleveland, contains approximately 1200 questions about psychiatry and neurology with detailed answers and explanations, making it one of the few books exclusively targeted at those preparing for Psychiatry Boards, although, according to the authors, it will also be helpful for psychiatry residents and psychiatrists preparing for various examinations. This comprehensive review contains multiple-choice questions each with detailed answers and explanations that will help the candidate to prepare for the examinations and also for daily praxis, and thus, represents a perfect supplement to other psychiatry and neurology resources. Again, special emphasis has been placed on psychopharmacology and neurology, two areas that are covered significantly on the boards. The book will certainly be of value not only for candidates appearing for the Board examinations, but also for psychiatric residents and practising psychiatrists and neurologists."--European Journal of Neurology

James Labrecque:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some book, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the educator want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Psychiatry: 1,200 Questions to Help You Pass the Boards can make you truly feel more interested to read.
